POPOCRATIC FUSION PLAN.

Two Sets of Electors and a United Vote on

Vice-President.

VINCENNES, Ind., Aug. 1 .- Samuel F. Wil-fams of this city has prepared and forwarded to William J. Bryan a draft of an agreement to be submitted to the Populist and Democratic conference committees, which seems to throw much light on the inside workings and under-

Mr. Williams was the originator of the idea of nominating the Vice-President first. He was Chairman of the sub-committee of the Populist National Convention which was se lected to formulate the order of business of the Convention. The "Middle of the Road" ele-ment's scheme seems to contradict the popular notion that the Populists desire Sewall's removal from the Democratic ticket. The text made on behalf of said parties by the re spective National Committees and to be in force nave its own full national ticket in the column under its own party emblem and a full list of candidates for Presidential electors.

"The same names of candidates shall be ou each and both of said columns. In each of said States each party shall select as nearly as possible one haif the number of said candidates for elector. That is to say, in each state the Democrats shall select one candidate for elector at large and the Democratical state of the Democra tion as between Watson and Sewall for Vice-President.

"It is understood that all of the said electors elected in the college vote for William J. Bryan for President. It is understood that after the election and prior to the State meeting of the electors a special committee of four, composed of two Populists and two Democrats, shall ascertain and determine from the official returns the total popular vote cast for said elected electors upder the Bryan and Sewall column respectfully, and as between Watson and Sewall, the one having received the highest and largest vote shall receive in the college the entire vote of all the Bryan electors elected as aforesaid."

ILLINOIS SOUND-MONEY MEN.

Call for a State Convention to Nominate

Full State Ticket.

CHICAGO, Aug. 1.—The sound-money Demo-erats of Illinois will hold a State Convention.

This step was formally decided upon to-day by the State Executive Committee. Chairman

Ewing was directed to prepare a call for the Convention, to be held in Chicago on Aug. 25, to nominate a full State ticket and elect celegates to the Anti-Free Silver National Convention. There is considerable talk in Democratic circles that Chairman Hinrichsen of the Democratic State Committee will exercise his authority as Secretary of State to prevent the gold Democrats using the name "Democratic" on the bailots with any attachment.

Man Zeininger Is for Gold. MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 1.-Sound money has a champion in Mgr. Zeininger, Vicar-

General of the Milwaukee archdiocese of the Catholic Church. In an interview published yesterday Mgr. Zeininger declared that careful study had convinced him that the free coinage of sliver would ruin the country. Mgr. Zeininger comes from Austria, a country that was on a sliver basis until recently, and so is qualified by experience to tell of the effects of a sliver policy.

Mr. Rurtz said that the Ohio campaign will be opened with a mammoth mass meeting at Columbus on Aug. 15, at which the speakers will be Thomas B. Reed. John Sherman, and J. H. Foraker. Mr. Foraker, who had expected to sail for Europe last week, postponed his trip to appear at this meeting. Major McKiniev has been invited to be present as a guest of honor.

The Madison avenue front of the headquarters building was decorated yesterday with portraits in black and white of the candidates. Jules Guthridge, a Washington newspaper man, took charge of the bureau of information.

Senatar Shoup of Idaho and Powell Clayton of Arkansas were at the national Republican headquarters to-day. In the absence of other members of the National Committee Charles G. Dawes entertained them. Senator Shoup said:

"We are bearding Fred Dubois in his den and expect to carry Idaho. We will have a township organization for sound money and protective tariff and combat free trade and free silver at the same time. On the issue I think Idaho will surprise the country by going Republican."

Fresh from the home of Senator Joues, Chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Powell Clayton reported a gold sentiment among Democrats. "I believe," said he, "that three or four Congress districts in Arkansas will go Republican this year because gold Democrats will join hands with Republicans."

PLATT MEN DEFEATED

A Lively Row in the Republican Cancu-

in Geneva-Police Called In. GENEVA, N. Y., Aug. 1. - The Platt and the anti-Platt factions here locked borns in caucus to-day. The Platt men had control of the organization and undertook to run the caucus by arbitrary rulings. This caused a row, and for a time the meeting was in disorder. A rush was made for a hat containing ballots, which was on a table, and in the melee the table was smarhed and the hat stolen. The caucus started business again with the police present to preserve order. Then balloting was resumed on a notion to endorse Saxton for Governor, Steele for Assembly, and Backenstose for Judge. In all 650 votes were cast. The Platt men endeavored to defeat this resolution by having a number of votes thrown out, but were unsuc cessful. The Steele ticket was endorsed by thirty-six majority.

ODELL OUT OF THE RACE.

Me Announces that He Cannot Be Cousidered a Candidate for Governor.

NEWBURGH, Aug. 1.-The Republican Conention of the First Assembly district of Orange county was held here to-day, and instead of 1,000 rooters going to the State Convention from here, accompanied by the best band New York could furnish, to aid Congressman Odell to lay out the various other candidates for Governor, only seven good Republicans will make the trip, and these are all good friends of Thomas C. Platt. The seven delegates elected to-day are County Clerk W. G. Taggart, ex-Assemblyman Joseph M. Dickey, Assemblyman Louis F. Goodsell, Ingham Stubley, Supervisor

Louis F. Goodsell, Ingham Stubley, Supervisor Irving Loughran, the Hon. M. H. Hirschberg, and Congressman Odell.

The reason that the 1,000 rooters will stay at home was given by the Congressman himself, when he formally announced that he could not be considered a candidate for the office on account of business arrangements. The Congressman has recently taken hold of the bankrupted Kilmer Wire Works here with a Philadelphia concern, and the two interests are to control and run it. The Kilmers failed for over half a million, and it being a large concern Mr. Odell has concluded that he had better stick to his business, and let the Governorship go to some one cise. He will therefore not let his name go before the Convention, and in that event it is believed not at all unlikely that the Hudson Valley vote will go not to Hamilton Fish or Lou Payn's man, but to some one further up State and probably to the pride of Monroe county, George Washington Aldridge. The Convention adopted resolutions heartily endorsing McKinley and Hobart and eulogizing Congressman Odell. Mr. Odell will again stand for Congress.

FIELD OPEN FOR GEN. KETCHUM.

Congressman Lefevre Withdraws as a Candidate for Renomination, POUGHKEEPSIE, Aug. 1 .- As a result of the strife between the Cuykendall and Hasbrouck factions in the Republican party in Ulster drawn as a candidate for renomination in the Eighteenth New York district. In a letter to Eighteenth New York district. In a letter to the Poughkeepsie Courier he says:

"Not wishing to be a party to the political differences now existing in certain portions of this Congressional district, I hereby withdraw my name as a candidate for Representative in Congress for the Eighteenth Congressional district. I do this with full deliberation and after being assured of the united support of the delegates of the entire district."

The situation is interesting, as only a few days ago Gen. John Henry Ketchum of Dutchess county refused to be considered as a candidate if there was going to be a contest. Mr. Lefevre's withdrawal leaves the field open for Gen. Ketchum.

ALDRIDGE AND WOODRUFF? That's the Way the State Ticket Looks Brooklyn Republicans,

Park Commissioner Timothy L. Woodruff o

Brooklyn and his friends declare that he will have every one of the ninety-two delegates for Lieutenant-Governor at the Saratoga Conven The handsome Park Commissioner was very busy in this city yesterday hustling for dale gates. Since it has begun to look so much like a walkover for George W. Aldridge of Roches a waterover for George W. Aldridge of Roches-ter for first place; on the ticket, the Woodruff boom has increased enormously.

One reason for this is the relative geograph-ical situation of Rochester and Brooklyn, and the other is the possibility of at last uniting the squabbling Kings county factions.

Fish for Governor is still very much in evi-dence, and Nevada N. Stransham of Oswego, for second place, has not given up all hope of lightning striking his upraised rod.

Stenben Republicans Unanimous for the Organization.

BATH, N. Y., Aug. 1.-The Republicans of Steuben county to-day elected the following delegates to the State Convention: First District-John F. Parkhurst, Dr. George W. Pratt, Monroe Wheeler, Amos Roberts, G.

T. Conine, and Frank Hedges. Second District—Franklin D. Sherwood, Wilbar W. Capron, Leslie D. Whiting, C. E. Colvin, Lynn G. Briston, and George Johnson.
They are all for organization, and both districts were unanimous. The Congress delegates were instructed for Gillet for Congress.
The Hon. James S. Harrison of Addison was nominated for member of Assembly by acclamation. The delegates to the State Convention are uninstructed, but will probably vote for Aldridge for Governor.

Mayor Warster Says He Is Not Looking

Mayor Wurster of Brooklyn says that there is no foundation for the story that he is anxious to go to Congerss from the Fifth district. He believes that it would be improper for him to become a candidate for another office until his term as Mayor has expired.

the most important newspapers in that State. He says:

"Our State Convention endorsed Bryan, and most of the delegates were crary silveries. Personally as a Democrat I cannot suit will not support Bryan, and thousands more Democrata here take the same view. New Orleans is for gold, and the majority of our intelligent people are for gold; but the farmers are crazy silverites bordering on populism. The sugar planters are Kepublicans and gold men. If the real Democratic party will put up a gold ticket I and thousands more will support It, though we know we cannot win, but it will keep the regular Democratic party together. If no such ticket is put up I and thousands of others will support McKinley. As a regular Democrat I might eat Democratic crow, but I'll be damned if I can stomach populistic carrion. Hather than see such a platform as was adopted at Chicago and by the Pope at St. Louis succeed Louislana will go for McKinley." TOPEKA, Kan., Aug. 1.- A conference of Kansas gold Democrats was neld in this city yesterday afternoon and Eugene Hagan of Topeka was day afternoon and Eugene Hagan of Topeka was chosen to represent them at the indianapolis conference on next Friday. Sam Kimble of Manhattan, who is at the head of the gold Democratic movement in this State, reported that be had received much encouragement in his work, and was convinced that a State Convention would be well attended. It was decided that a State Convention should be called as soon as the call for a National Convention is made and a stategand electoral ticket nominated. York, on Aug. 11, was given out here to-day by Senator Jones. Chairman of the committee. He requests members to notify W. F. BEPUBLICANS HOLD A PRIMARY OF THE OLD-FASHIONED SORT.

Out of 1,000 Votes, but the Republican Factions Earoll 800 The Primary Results in a Row-Contests to Follow. WHITE PLAIRS, Aug. 1.—The Republican primary election held here to-day reminded the older members of both parties of the good old days before the Legislature soughs to devise means to make voting secret and before the ballot machines and new-fangled builots were invented. The primary to-day was to select delegates from the town of White Plains to the Republican county, Assembly district, and school conventions. Two factions sought to carry the day in the interests of the two candidates for the nomination for County Treasurer. The rival candidates are Samuel C. Miller, now Deputy Register and a nephew of Warner Miller, and Edward B. Long, for many years a veli-known Republican county politician.

Mr. Long's cause was taken up by James oung, Chairman of the Town Committee; J. W. Stafford, a local druggist; John and George hompson, John Oeziek, and others, commonly known as the Platt contingent, Mr. Miller's friends are John P. and James H. Moran, John R. Bresse, F. H. Hessells, and Robert Brown who side with Judge William H. Robertson in all his political fights.

Mr. Long's adherents have been beaten severai times at primaries, they allege, because Mr. Miller's friends enrolled Democrate and voted them. To obviate this the Town Committee, of which Mr. Long and his friends are in a majority, ordered an enrollment. There are about a thousand voters in White Plains, which is usually Democratic by about a hundred, yet when the enrolled "Republicans" were counted there were 750 on the list, 200 more than the number voting at the last caucus. This, of course, led to charges and counter charges.

The primary was advertised to begin at 2 o'clock at the Town Hall, and to continue till 8 o'clock. The second story of the building was packed at the opening hour. Bedlam broke loose when it was discovered that fifty names had been added to the enrolled list since the advertised time had passed. The writing was that of J. W. Stafford, who explained that the committee had ordered this without notifying all its members. Four of the eight committeemen were present, he said. Chairman Young refused to call the caucus to order and declare the ballot open. When no action had been taken at half past 2

James H. Moran was selected temporary Chair-man, and ordered the baileting begun. The Long faction produced another ballot box and declared that their box was the only proper declared that their box was the only proper one. Candidate Long held one box and Candidate Miller another. Mr. Long was hustled into a corner and the box wrenched from his hands and smashed against the wall. Councillor Capron, who went to Long's resone, was knocked into a corner, and blows followed thick and fast. Mr. Stafford was pushed against the wall by John P. Moran, who shook his fist in his face and toid him what he thought of him. In another corner James H. Muran was toying with the Populistic whiskers of Candidate Long and using anything but endearing terms to express his views on the situation. Chairman Young found himself on the sidewalk, but says he has no idea whether he came down the stairs or through a window. Mr. tion. Chairman Young found himself on the sidewalk, but says he has no idea whether he came down the stairs or through a window. Mr. Stafford narrowly escaped going through a window to the sidewalk, fifteen feet below.

The fight was getting very interesting when John Breese, the Under Sheriff of the county, steeped in and succeeded in restoring order. Still each side branded the other as liars, thieves, and buildozers. The Long contingent grabbed another ballot box, which they placed on a barrel and set up a polling place of their own on the sidewalk at the doorway of the hall. As the voters arrived they were grabbed by the pullers in of the two factions and by main force reashed to one or the other ballot box. All the afternoon the fight went on for voters. Special pollecmen were sworn in, and arguments between individuals were squeiched by the police when the danger line was approached.

At 8 o clock both sides closed the polis. Owing to the fracas but 528 votes were polled of the 800 enrolled. In the Miller box were 236 ballots, 222 of which were for Miller, while in the Long box on the sidewalk were 282 ballots, 246 being for Long. White Plains will have a contesting delegation in each of the four conventions.

FIRGINIA WANTS NOUND MONEY.

Hugh E. Garden Says Only the Back Coun-Those who have had an opportunity to study he political situation of Virginia feel great hope that the silver heresy will meet with a decisive defeat in the Old Dominion. Mugh R. Garden of this city has just returned from an extended stay in Virginia, during which he had opportunities to talk with all sorts of people, and he says that although the silver sentiment is undoubtedly strong he thinks that sound money will win in November. In a talk with a Sun reporter yesterday Mr. Garden said:

"There is a clearly defined line that divides those in favor of free silver and those in favor of a fixed standard. I have found it to be invariably the case that among those who are out of touch with the world, the country people, the silver sentiment is very strong. I say sentiment advisedly, for it is a sentiment, and in my opinion is not amenable to argument. The Virginian farmer looks upon silver as the one thing that will cure all his ills, as the one thing that will fetch back the blessings he enjoyed before 1860. He cannot understand why it is that his products have fallen so in price in the past few years. He has seen himself growing poorer and years. He has seen himself growing poorer and poorer, and now he turns to silver as a cure-all, it is whoily a sentiment with him. The Southerner is easentially sentimental, and the Southern farmer, in the matter of silver, does not argue. He can't argue the question.

"As a matter of fact, he cares little or nothing for silver. He wants a change; any sort of a change, and silver is the nearest one at hand, He says to himself that a change cannot make things worse, and it probably will make them better, and he has taken in eagerly all statements that go to show that silver will make him rich.

better, and he has taken in eagerly all statements that go to show that silver will make him rich.

"Those are the country people, people who have little to do with the outside world, who see people from the towns and other parts of the country but once a week or once a month, or two or three times a year. As soon as we get among people who are in daily contact with the outside world we find exactly the opposite sentiment. Take the people along the Chesapeake, the oysiermen, clasmers, and truck gardeners. All of them, whites and blacks, are for a fixed standard, for gold, From the very nature of their business they are brought into daily contact with the world. Their products are perishable, and must be sold day by day.

"These people understand the value of money. They understand what a fluctuating standard means. Many of them cannot read or write, but they know that they do not want free colnage. One old fellow said to me:

"I don't want none of your silver money and greenbacks. I had enough of that when we had Confederate money. I don't want to put by my little savings in a canvas bag to buy a new boat and when I go to buy it find that I haven't enough to buy a chew of tobacco.

"That is the sentiment." said Mr. Garden, "that is found all along the coast among that class of people. They will vote for sound money or they will not vote at all. In the towns and cities, among all business men of whatever class, you will find a good, healthy, sound money sentiment. They are believes in sound money sentiment. They are believes in sound money, sentiment. They are helieves for the fore, the Southerner and the Virginian is full of sentiment, and it will be a tremendous step for them to throw over the traditions of the past and vote for Mr. McKinley."

"How about at hird-ticket movement?"

"The leading sound-money Democrats are discussing that now. The leaders are undoubtedly going to do what they think is best for the leaders told me that if teed had been nominated there would have been no troble in carrying Virginia ley is personally very unnopular. One of the leaders told me that if Reed had been nominated there would have been no trouble in carrying Virginia for the Republicans. But there are large numbers of sound-money Democrats who will not vote for McKinley and will refrain altogether from voting."

"Will there be many deserters from the Republican ticket to the silver ticket?"

"No," answered Mr. Garden. "The Republican party in Virginia is in much better condition than the Democratic. The Democrats have been badly split up for the last few years, and in this very fact lies one of the explauations of the strong silver sentiments in the country districts. Some of the leaders have been sedulously fostering that sentiment in the hope of unling the party again and bringing harmony into the ranks. The Republicans, I have been told by leading Democrate, will vote the Republican ticket as a unit, whether they are for silver or gold. This fact, coupled with the dissension in the Democratic ranks, makes the cause of sound money seem very hopeful. A leading Democrat told me that whatever might be the issue in the national Convention Virginia will surely send to the next Congress four be the issue in the national Convention Vir-ginia will surely send to the next Congress four sound-money Democrats."

London, Aug. 1.-The English Socialist leaders and their organs, in commenting on the silver agitation and the growth of populism, deal with them as offering more of promise than of immediate fruition. Mr. Hyndman writes that triumph of the silverites in the Democratic Convention need not be regarded with satisfaction by the Socialists. "Currency juggles," he adds, "are only red herrings to draw the working people off the right trail." The Clarton, largest in circulation of the Red Flag organs, says: "If the American voter imagines that Democratic bimetallism or Republican import duties will make any difference to him, he imagines a vain thing. She was, until then, the only injured one who had not been identified, and on all the lists of injured she had been named "Unknown young woman."

This morning she had a lucid moment, and was asked her name. She mnrmured "Laura Ayera" but a friend of the dying girl came in shortly afterward and recognized her as Lizite Brannin, Laura Ayers being her chum.

Her case has excited the interest of the corps of hospital physicians, who are giving her every attention, aithough they have given up hope of saving her life. Horner is also expected to die. Neither knows of the condition of the other.

In an adjoining ward is Samuel Wentzel, Jr. Two of his family were killed, and two of his sons are with him in the hospital. One, William, who was hurled from the train to the meadows, will likely die to-night.

Frank Morrell of East Orange, N. J., is dying. He has not uttered a word since he was admitted.

When the train left Atlantic City there were twenty-four bodies on board. Two were put off at Elmer and three at other stations along the route. Miss Lillie Taylor, who was reported dead, came home yesterday. She was badly injured in the head, and has become insane.

Sach Side Says It Is Sure of Victory is BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 1.-The Alabami State campaign came to a close to-night. Every hamlet almost in the State to-day was the scene of public speaking, and in the larger places to-night crowds have assembled on almost every corner to listen to political arguments of opposite parties. Joseph F. Johnston, the Democratic candidate for Governor, wound up the campaign in Winston county, while Congressman A. T. Good-wyn, the Populist-Republican candidate, closed his tour in Limestone.

The outlook is rather confused at this time. Capt. Johnston, before leaving last night for Winston county, said that he expected his majority to run up to about 50,000. Nathaniel Miller, Secretary of the State Democratic Campaign Committee, to-day gave out his calculations as to the Democratic majority.

He places the figure at 40,000, and says he He places the figure at 40,000, and says ne would not be surprised if it went to 60,000. John B. Knox, Chairman of the State Campaign Committee, expressed absolute confidence in vietory for the Democratic ticket.

J. A. Bingham, acting chairman of the Populist State Campaign Committee, said to-day that he was confident, from reports received already, that Goodwyn and his ticket will be elected by about 25,000 majority. He expects his party to carry all of the white counties in the State with the exception of three, and also says they will secure a majority of the Lagislature. He says Goodwyn will go to the black belt, where they anticipate fraud, with a large majority.

William Vaughan, Chairman of the Republican State Executive Committee, said that he does not see how Capt, Johnson and his ticket can win, Much figuring is being done on both sides, and the estimates given out by the campaign committees, whose headquarters are in Hirmingham, are as different as they could possibly be. Two years ago Koih, Populist-Republican candidate, carried almost all the white counties in the State, Goodwyn expects to do the same, and with a fair election will divide the black-belt vots.

WILL BRYAN IGNORE THEM? Story that He May Give the Populists the Marble Heart.

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 1 .- Mr. Bryan no longer peaks of his nomination by the Populists as if he intended to make any further statement to the public. The assurance that the unpleasantness involved in his nomination in St. Louis with Watson would be adjusted speedily to the satisfaction of everybody was not accepted with much confidence, and the feeling is growing that this statement had about as much ing as Mr. Bryan's telegram to Senator Jones declining the Populist nomination.

As the days go by, Mr. Bryan seems less and less inclined to discuss the Populist entangle-ment. It is asserted by some of the candidate's ment. It is asserted by some of the candidate's friends that he has a surprise for the public, and it is intimated the surprise will be a declination of the Populist nomination. Up to the bresent moment Mr. Bryan has never refused any kind of a nomination for any kind of an office, and it is not easy to believe that he will begin now.

Mr. Bryan's pians up to the list of September are now arranged, and so far no provision has been made for either the silver or Populist notification. From what Mr. Bryan has said to infication. From what Mr. Bryan has said to indicate the best course is to continue silent and have no notification. Mr. Bryan had a quiet day. There were few callers, and he spent nearly twelve hours in his library.

upon him this afternoon at his office.

"I do not care to be interviewed," he remarked. "It is not my intention to go into a point-by-point decinration."

"Your position, then, in politics can be regarded as one of a bolter?"

"I do not know what you call a bolter," remarked the Judge. "I am where I have always been. There are things in the Democratic platform that I have been fighting against all my life. I cannot support such a platform. I have not been struck by lightning. My end of the schooner is annohered, and it is not my intention to follow in the footsteps of the men who are trying to place this patent medicine. I don't think it will effect a cure. I am where I was on January last, and on the tweive months previous, and even as far back as when I was a boy in 1834."

SUICIDE AT THE GRAND UNION

Webster Gray, a Retired Tailor of Pitts-burgh, Cute His Throat in This City. Webster Gray, a retired merchant tailor of good time, cut his throat and bled to death on Friday night in his room in the Grand Union Gray had been living with his sister in Detrolt during the summer, and he arrived in New York on July 23. He went to the Grand Union and registered, giving his address as 862 Trumbull avenue, Detroit."

He had an umbrella, two canes, a satchel, and two trunks with him, and told the hotel clerk that he wanted a good room. He received room on the third floor, and before he had been in the city long he began to drink.

He continued to do so until Friday night, when he went to the hotel bar and asked for some whiskey. The bartender, who saw that Gray was suffering from the effects of too much drink, refused to serve him, and Gray left the barroom. He went into the reading room of the hotel

He went into the reading room of the hotel and made such a noise there that the manager told him that he would not be allowed to stay in the hotel unless he behaved himself.

Gray had a number of friends in the city, among them was Matthew J. Fogerty, a wholesale dealer in woollens at 33 Greene street, who lives at 2,150 Fifth avenue. Gray called on Mr. Fogerty on Wednesday morning at his store. He was then in good spirits.

Fogerty did not see him again, but yesterday morning he received a letter in which Gray asked him to call on him at the Grand Union. Mr. Fogerty left his office shortly before 1 o'clock, and went to the hotel. When he arrived there he found that Gray had not been seen during the morning. A bell boy was sent to the room. He found that Gray had not been seen during the morning. A bell boy was sent to the room. He found that the door was locked, and no one responded to his knock.

The boy got a ladder and looked through the transom. Gray lay on the bed undressed, with a gash fh his throat. When the door was forced open it was found that Gray was dead, and had been for several hours.

Gray owed a hotel bill of $4, and had only 23 cents in his pockets. The razor with which he cut his throat was found closed under the pillow, where he had placed it after inflicting the fatal wound.

The suicide's sister lived at the Detroit address, and he left scaled and addressed letters for her and for Mr. Fogerty. These were mailed to them. Gray was a thirty-second degree Mason and a Knight of the Mystic Shirine. He was a fine-looking man about 50 years old.

Lillie Graham had her back turned toward the cat. The animal jumped at her and buried its teeth in the calf of the girl's leg. She screamed and the other girl picked up a stick and hit the cat over the head, causing it to release its hold on Lillian.

The cat then jumped at Mary and bit her in the leg, too. The acreams of the girls attracted a crowd, and a policeman kliled the cat with a couple of blows of his night stick and a shot from his piatol.

The girls are not hadly hurt, and will be taken to the Pasteur Institute for treatment.

THE MOST REMARKABLE MARING EXPLOIT ON RECORD, sorge Harbo and Frank Samuelson, P Left New York on June 6, Arrive on the Other Side, Having Rowed All the Way Across the Atlantic is an Open Boat Way Across the Atlantic is an Open Best.

For the first time in history men have succeeded in crossing the Atlantic under the impulse of oars alone. Many craft of small tennage have sailed across, but rowing is quite a different matter. The feat is commended to the attention of Mr. Clark Russell and others who have written so cloquently of the periis incurred by people in small boats at sea.

On Saturday, June d. George Harbo and Frank Samuelson, roung Norwegian ishermen, residents of Atlantic Highlands, N. J. started on the long journey to Havre, France, from the Battery in this city. Their boat, the "Fox" about 17 feet long, was built under Harbo's supervision especially for this risky trip. I was arranged and equipped to meet every contingency which could be foreseen.

The FOI IS CAPSIERD.

The little craft was provisioned for the entire trip (estimated at sixty days), and carried neall whatever. The men wore safety belt around their waits to attach them firmly it the boat, to be especially used, of course, it rough weather. The boat had no shelter other than a canvas to sleep under. A more perfectly frank way of challenging the sea to do its wors cannot be imagined. According to the law of chances there was about as great a probability of these adventurous young fellows ever reaching the coast of France in that boat as them bould be of their landing on Jupiter from a balloon.

The fact that Harbo was provided with the African sustaining tonic was due to a suggestion made by Mr. J. H. Mayo of 76 Cedar st. a well-known lawyer, residing at Atlantic Highlands, where he personally knew Harbo and be came familiar with his scheme. It should be said that these daring men had both beed sailors and were known in the pilot boat service.

Mr. Mayo took a great interest in Harbo's so.
Mr. Mayo took a great interest in Harbo's so, terprise, and having read of the sustaining powers of Vino-Kolafra when unusual exertion and endurance are called for, suggested that Harbo take a supply as part of the stores of his craft.
The idea striking him favorably, Harbo obtained a quantity of the African tonic stimular from the Brunswick Pharmacal Co. agreeding on his arrival to cable the results of its use.
Further particulars, through the mails, will be awaited with interest.

Harbo's brief reference to the usefulness of Vino-Kolafra on his dangerous and physically exhausting voyage gives a certain haif-humorous edge to the fact that this is the stuff that Bob Cook declined to use in the recent rowing contest at Henley; and it is a fair inference that the Leander crew's employment of it may have had something to do with its victory over the Yale boys.

Before leaving New York Harbo stated to friends that what he feared most was that in very high, combing seas the boat might be upset
the Yale boys.

The vince of Vino-Kolafra's such an accident he had provided by life lines, already referred to, which prevented the men being washed away from the boat. Such an overset actually occurred on July 10, as reported cablegram.

It is worth noting also that before leavin New York Harbo tried to make arrangement with certain papers here to publish the story of the trip, furnishing some needed funds in at vance, but they all refused to associate them selves with the scheme, probably on the theory. selves with the scheme, probably on the theary that they would thereby be virtually accessor, before the fact, to a suicide.

Nothing succeeds like success, and those journals live to lament their want of faith in luck, pluck, and the invigorating properties of Vino-Koiafra.—Adv.
